BOLL WEEVIL IN WILSON COUNTY.

The advance guard of the boll weevil is arriving in this county. We are hearing almost every day, of some one finding the pest in this section. Another has been found on the farm of Mr. W. J. Davis near Wilson. That they are on the way and due to arrive next year in force is indicated by the habits of the pest, and the rapidity with which they travel. Being very light, the winds can carry them a long distance, and as soon as they get in the air again they are carried farther, and so they go on and on. It is said they have been found on the tops of trains, and in other vehicles of travel.

We are informed that the agricultural department recommends the planting of crimson clover, which planted in the cotton after the crop is picked, enables the turning in of the soil crop, and this gives the insects something to feed on, and keeps it under ground. By so doing, the cotton crop has some forty days start on the weevil.

MORE JUDGES

One of the first acts of Chief Justice Taft, after assuming his new office, has been to appear before the Senate Judiciary committee and plead for the establishment of 18 more federal district judges throughout the country.

There is no question that more judges are needed. There have never been enough to take care of the business devolving on them, and the volume of cases is increasing. The Volstead act, among other causes adds to their burdens.

In these federal courts, as in all others, justice delayed is often justice denied. Some improvement has been effected in many localities in recent years by the speeding up of court work and the curtailment of judges' summer vacations, but much remains to be done.

Chief Justice Taft has long taken a keen interest in the expedition of justice. He should be able now to accomplish a general reform along this line, not only by the increase of judges where more are needed but by the improvement of court procedure and the avoidance of delays due to technicalities and laxity.—Exchange.

INVESTIGATION OF THE KU KLUX KLAN

The Times was the first newspaper in the country to challenge the right of the Ku Klux Klan to exist, and the charges by the Times regarding the methods and practices of the Klan in the regulation of public affairs are identical with those under investigation by members of Congress at Washington.

The Times received notes and threats purporting to come from the Klan, but that did not deter this paper in seeking to nip in the bud an organization that threatened the peace and safety of the community. The principles laid down by this paper at the time have been vindicated by similar action in all parts of the country, and the same challenge that we made "why have any set of men the right to become interpreters of the law, or executors of the law unless clothed with powers duly granted by the people," is now being asked by Congress and the newspapers of the country.

One member of Congress who seemed to think that the acts of the Klan were quite proper, and at under the laws they should be free from censure, reproval or punishment, introduced a resolution to invest to all secret orders.

This resolution begs the question. We would not for such a course should other men interfere with the rights and liberties of the people. But the Klan is the only one which hatches schemes in its halls and then sallies forth to put them into execution under the cloak of darkness, and the disguises which they wear.

Other orders appear in their uniform, but the members do not black their faces, or cover them up. Neither do they interfere with the business of the law with weapons of intimidation and threats.

The creed of the Times is very broad. Let every man enjoy the fullest measure of happiness and liberty as long as it does not interfere with the happiness and liberty of others. Analyzed to its ultimate conclusion it will do to live by.

THE THREATENED RAILROAD STRIKE

The threatened railroad strike which is rumored to occur October 30th, if it occurs will be the greatest strike in the history of the world. Two million men are affected, and it is quite safe to say that the industries of the country will be paralyzed.

The President has called to the White House the members of the Board who represent the public, and surely the public should be considered, for the public will suffer quite as much as either the workmen or the railroad owners.

We believe the government will be able to avert the strike. It certainly should step in and settle the dispute between the railroad executives and the men, that the people of America may be saved from financial loss, and utter discomfort.

HOUSE KILLS BILL TO INCREASE MEMBERS.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The house recorded its opposition tonight to any increase in its membership, recommitting to the census committee by a vote of 146 to 142 the Siegel bill to increase its size from 435 to 460 members.

The vote was taken on a motion to recommit offered by Representative Fairfield, of Indiana, a Republican member of the census committee, after nine hours of debate and wrangling over parliamentary procedure.

Previous to recommitting the bill, the house rejected 140 to 146 an amendment by Representative Barbour, Republican, California, to authorize reapportionment without any increase in its membership.

Another amendment, offered by Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, to decrease the membership to 425 was smothered under an avalanche of "noes."

WEATHER FORECAST

Washington, Oct. 15.—Weather predictions for the week is as follows: South Atlantic and East Gulf normal temperatures with considerable cloudiness.

NUMBERS ATTENDED THE ART EXHIBIT

The Wilson school should be commended for bringing to the town the excellent exhibit of pictures which has been shown at the high school auditorium for the past three days. Reproductions of fine old paintings, of masterpieces of the world were on exhibition. The exhibition highly instructive.

In addition to the art exhibit the school presented an entertaining program of readings and music.

Large numbers of friends were glad to pay the small admission charge to attend the exhibit. The school hopes to buy several good pictures.

DRAMATIC CLUB TO GIVE PLAY.

A meeting of the "try out" committee of the Dramatic Club will be held Monday at 7:45 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of selecting the characters for the one act play, "The Twelve Pound Look" which will be given early in November. All persons interested in dramatics are urged to come to the meeting and try out for the different parts.

The play is a very delightful one containing a story full of human interest. The characters typify persons such as may be found among our own acquaintances. The story has to do with a certain pompous Englishman about to be knighted and very proud of that fact. He is attended by his dutiful wife in preparations for the ceremonies to come. A typist, a young woman, is shown into the room to write letters answering congratulations which Sir Harry is sure his friends will shower upon him when he is knighted.

The young typist is a former wife of Sir Harry. Years before she left him abruptly. He had a notion that some other man caused her departure, and secured a divorce on those grounds. Now she startles him by appearing before him, a capable business woman, a typewriter under her arm. His unsuspecting wife leaves the room and Sir Harry finds that he must know the reason his former wife left him. She tells him that he was too successful. She was tired of "your fat dinners in my fat jewelry surrounded by our fat friends." She wanted to earn twelve pounds of her very own. And she warned every man who saw "that twelve pound look" stealing into his wife's eyes.

It is a clever story.

Sir Harry and Kate, his wife, are the stars in the play. His pompous demeanor, her charming independence give room for excellent acting. Lady Sims, a meek little woman who dare not call her soul her own, is a lesser character.

THE SHORTEST ROUTE TO RALEIGH

Wendell, N. C., Oct. 15, 1921. Mr. John D. Gold, Editor, Wilson, North Carolina. Dear Sir:—

Following your article in the Daily Times of the 11th, in regard to the shortest route between Wilson and Raleigh.

If your space will allow will you please copy the attached in your next issue of the Daily Times, I find that the other route which is much further and in many instances this new route is much better than parts of the older route mostly traveled heretofore and I feel like the people in and around Wilson and East there of that is not acquainted with the improvement being made on this new route will be pleased to travel this way especially during next week of the State Fair when it will be a good time to learn more about this shortest route and what it means to the Eastern part of North Carolina when the road is completed.

Yours very truly,
J. C. COLLINS,
Director of Transportation Wendell Chamber of Commerce.

Good progress is being made by the State Highway in improving the shortest route between Wilson and Raleigh, with these improvements under way this route is now in good condition with the exception of about four miles between Simms and a point just west of Bailey, some sand and a few sharp curves and motorists should move cautiously to avoid getting on the wrong road over this short stretch, following the mostly traveled road.

The distance is reduced about 20 miles by opening up this shortest route between Wilson and the Capitol City, motorist will follow the route out of Wilson parallel with the N. S. R. R. to Simms, 9 miles which is a very good road and compares favorably with Eastern Carolina roads, and from Simms to Bailey 5 miles, Bailey to Middlesex 6 miles good except short distance on East end, and Middlesex to Wendell 10 miles which is in excellent condition for speed, cross the railroad just East of Wendell 17 miles to Raleigh which has been freshly ditched, and the State Highway has just completed cutting and cleaning on each side a good space to allow a clear view ahead between Middlesex and Raleigh, speed governed only by the State Law.

Considerable mileage will be saved by motorists as far south of Wilson as Rock Ridge and vicinity going direct to Simms and using this new route to Raleigh.

Wilson county road forces have just ditched this road between Rock Ridge and Simms and good speed can be made over this stretch which compares favorably with the older roads that have worn down until the new lines are much better for speed.

LASSES WHITE'S ALL STAR MINSTRELS

The roster of Lasses White's All Star Minstrels which organization now on its second annual tour is to be seen at the Wilson Theatre Thursday is particularly rich in vocal ability. This feature is under the direction of Jim Pritchard who is not only a singer of the first class himself, but who acts as one of the interlocutors. Pritchard is also a member of The Blackville Quartette, which is one of the features of the olio. The principal soloists this season are Roscoe Humphreys, Paul Cholet, Frank Long, Herbert Schulze, Nate Talbot, Robert Johnson, Norman Brown and George Milner. The orchestra, one of the best with any of the minstrel bands, is under the direction of Professor Ernest Hatley.

COLLEGE TEAM GETTING IN SHAPE.

Coach Grant of the A. C. C. is building up his Foot-Ball Machine by petitioning them against stronger teams; that is certainly one way of developing a good team. With only two years of football the A. C. C. is getting along splendidly. Coach Grant is building up a nucleus for next season, and you are assured of a good game anytime you see the team from the college and their opponents play. The A. & E. freshmen team is a strong machine, and the game in Wilmington last Saturday, which resulted in a defeat for the A. C. C. was strongly contested, and the members of the opposing team, were ex-college Varsity players. One member played on the university of Pennsylvania team last year.

MR. J. T. MOORE.

Mr. J. T. Moore of this city passed away at 11:30 yesterday morning at his home in this city which is located on Lee street, and the interment occurred in Maplewood cemetery this afternoon at four o'clock, the funeral being conducted by his pastor Rev. J. E. Stewart of the Christian church, assisted by the Masons of which he was a faithful and honored member.

The deceased has been in poor health for some time, having been the victim of two paralytic strokes. He leaves six children Miss Mamie Moore of Wilson's Mills, Dr. Joe Moore of Asheville, and Messrs. A. R. Moore, J. B. Moore, Mrs. Owen Waldo and Mr. Edgar Moore of this city.

It has been the privilege of the Editor of The Times to know Mr. Moore for many years, and we have been more than once impressed with his industry and devotion to duty. For years he carried the mail on rural route number four out of Wilson, and rain or shine he was on the job, until his health was such that he was compelled to relinquish the task. It was his pleasure and privilege to be of service, and he esteemed it his duty to see that the patrons of the route were looked after in every conceivable way. He rendered efficient service to The Times by reporting anything that was inaccurate with his route and thus enabled us to give better service than otherwise.

His patrons on the route and the Editor of The Times will always keep his memory among those who were faithful and ever devoted to duty.

TELL IT TO THE WORLD

"Don't Keep Your Light Under a Bushel," But Let Its Rays Pierce the Four Corners of the Earth.

Mr. Editor: Just a few words as a suggestion to the people of Wilson, and especially the Wilson Tobacco Board of Trade.

All of the citizens of Wilson, town and county and for that matter, for a radius of several hundred miles—North, South, East and West, know that Wilson, North Carolina, is "the largest bright loose leaf tobacco market in the world." Sure, we all know this to be an absolute fact—but what is the matter with apprising all mankind with this important truth?

Milwaukee was made famous by Schlitz beer and the judicious use of printer's ink. The brewers saw their opportunity and grasped it and loosened their purse strings and let the newspapers tell it to the world. Besides, on every bar room door was the picture of a big "Billy Goat" announcing the fact that "Schlitz" was to be had within and the consequence was that a steady stream of thirsty humanity was flowing in and out of the joints at all hours of the day and night. Advertising cost a bunch of money but it's like "casting bread upon the waters."

So, what the delicious Schlitz did for the famous Wisconsin city, tobacco is the opportunity that is knocking at the door of every progressive business man, and now is the time to grasp it. Tobacco is the salvation of Wilson.

If the Wilson Tobacco Board of Trade will use the same methods adopted by the Milwaukee brewers, money will pour into their coffers from one year's end to another. Act before some other tobacco town gets our coal Real live advertisers use every method that will attract the public to the wares they have to offer.

The writer would suggest to Wilson tobaccoists a few pointers that would make the world sit up, take notice and talk about what "the big tobacco town" is doing, viz:

First—Let the Tobacco Board of Trade set aside an advertising fund. Take space in the local and state papers; induce merchants, bankers and others to know the fact that "the big tobacco town" is on the map to stay and grow larger—printed on their stationery, that the world may see what we are doing—for advertising, like little Cigarettes, work while the advertisers sleep.

Second—Besides being a big warehousing town Wilson should be a manufacturing center for the weed that the world is clamoring for.

Third, and last suggestion—on each of the railroad approaches to the city, east, west, north and south—there should be large electric signs telling travelers, who will toll others, that tobacco in Wilson is like coals in New Castle.

Good people, think over these suggestions. Get in action before some other progressive market beats us to it.

GOUCHER COLLEGE GIRL SHOT BY NEGRO.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 13.—With blood streaming from bullet wounds in her head and body, Marita Lyons, 21 years old, of Glenridge, N. J., a student at Goucher College, stumbled up to several men working on Rogers Avenue in the fashionable Green Spring Valley this afternoon and asked for help.

She said she had been shot by a negro who had offered to give her a lift in his automobile while she was walking along the Reisterstown Road near the Rosewood Institute, where she had gone to attend a case. She is a welfare worker in the Patterson Park Branch of the Family Welfare Association.

When she got to the machine, she said, the man turned the car and started in a direction opposite to that in which she had been going. When she called to him to stop he refused, she declared, and then she attempted to leave the machine. She struggled with her and finally shot her, then driving off and leaving her in the road.

The girl is in a serious condition at a hospital in this city.
